

LOCAL INTELLIGENCE.

Death of Judge Pitzer.

Judge J. S. Pitzer, a resident of Pioche since December, 1870, died at this place on Thursday last, after a lingering illness lasting nearly three months, most of that time he being confined to his residence on McCannon street. His death occurred at 12 o'clock on Thursday morning, and although it was or has been expected for some three weeks, still it was a sad blow to his numerous friends in and around Pioche, and will be much regretted by numerous friends in Virginia City, throughout the State and in California. Judge J. S. Pitzer was a native of the State of Ohio, and was born in the year 1818, making him a little over 58 years of age. He removed to Illinois at an early age and served with great gallantry in the Black Hawk war. He afterwards studied law in Illinois, and practiced his profession there some years. His first partner was J. M. Caruthers, afterwards noted in political circles. He came to California early, crossing the plains, we understand, in the year 1849. He was elected District Judge of Trinity and Shasta counties, but soon after resigned his office and resumed the practice of his profession at Weaverville, Trinity county, and since that time has resided on this Coast, having lived in California until 1864, at which time the Washoe excitement breaking out he emigrated to Virginia City, which town became his residence and place of business until 1868, when he moved to Hamilton, thence to Pioche. During the political excitement of the election of United States Senator from this State from 1865 to 1874, the Judge's name was always mentioned as a prominent candidate for that position by the Democratic party, but the Republicans always being in the ascendant, elected their favorite, Jesse S. Pitzer was a member of the Masonic Order, and belonged to Escurial Lodge of Virginia City. The members of St. John's Lodge No. 18, of Pioche, have taken charge of his remains, and he will be buried under the auspices of the Lodge from the lodge-room on Lacour street today at 2 o'clock p. m. A notice published to-day requests the members of the Lodge to be on hand promptly at 1 p. m. to attend the funeral. We sympathize with his wife in her misfortune, as do many friends of the late Jesse S. Pitzer.

FROM DEADWOOD CITY.—We have before us a letter written to a resident of Pioche, dated December 29, 1876, from Deadwood City, in which the writer says it took his party 23 days to make the trip from Cheyenne to Deadwood. He expected to find a more extensive mining country than that there is there. The hills cover an area of about sixty or seventy miles. No gold has been found out here in paying quantities, and that is very limited. About next Summer will work out most of the placer claims here. The quartz I don't go much on. I have seen what they call the best quartz mines here. There has not been much work done on them yet. As it is, they look like a regular quarry. The formation is slate, with some quartz and cement or sediment mixed in. The slate, I think, is nothing but high bed-rock. Times are terribly dull here, and there are a great many broken men. There are not twenty men working for wages on the gulch. There is no excuse for this, as the diggings are drifting, which can be worked in winter as well as spring. The weather has not been so very cold as yet—there is about snow enough to make good sleighing. There is plenty of timber. The water for mining purposes is scarce; that is if the mines were extensive, there being only one good sluice head at the best. Two days ago the Indians made a raid on the stock at Spear Fish, about 15 miles from here, and got away with about fifty head of horses. A couple of men were killed last week between here and Cheyenne. I expect to start from here with a party for the Big Horn Mountains. There is no show to take up any ground here, and they ask more for claims than what is on the bed-rock. Don't advise anyone to come here.

COLD WEATHER.—On Sunday night started the coldest weather we have experienced in Pioche this winter and towards Monday morning the air was exceeding frosty and cold. The sun came out bright on Monday morning but it failed to make the air feel any warmer. Some of our milkmen related to us that milk taken fresh and warm from cows at Rose Valley on Monday morning froze before reaching here the same day, something unknown to them before, especially when the sun shone as bright as it did on Monday last. Several canary birds, which were pets, froze to death on Sunday night, and there was much mourning and tears shed over the little feathered corpses by their respective owners.

COASTING ACCIDENT.—One of the results of coasting was experienced on Monday night last by Mrs. McDonald, who unfortunately had her right leg broken between the ankle and knee by being run over by a sled. It was a complete fracture of the bone. The lady was coasting down Ely street in company with a little girl when a sled in the rear, which was going faster than the one on which she was riding, collided with her's, knocking her off the sled and running over the leg which was broken. Although all the parties were tossed off into the snow, that was the only accident that occurred.

ALPS MILL.—The Alps mill shipped during the past week six bars of bullion valued at $8,228.34.

Raymond & Ely Annual Meeting.

The annual meeting of the stockholders of the Raymond & Ely was held on Tuesday last in San Francisco, resulting in the election of an entire new Board of Trustees, which fact we are pleased to announce. There is good reason for believing that the new Board will not pursue a policy similar to that which has been so persistently adhered to for the past year and a half. A mine never was nor never will be developed without prosecuting work upon it. Under the old management the mine had as well lain idle for the last year, for it was but one remove from it. When a few thousand dollars stand in the way of developing a mine the managers had better draw out and go to farming, they must take chances or go to something else. Judging from the well-known character of the members of the new Board, a radical change may be expected in the working of the Raymond & Ely, for they bear the reputation of live, practical mining men, who believe in going ahead when they have good reason for believing their efforts will be rewarded. Would such a mine as the Raymond & Ely lay idle if located on the Comstock? Not much! Then, why should it remain so if located elsewhere? At present work is pushed ahead on many mines around Virginia that can in no way be compared to the Raymond & Ely—mines which never have nor never will return a two-bit piece for the hundreds of thousands of dollars expended in their development. The men who have just been ousted from the Raymond & Ely to a certain extent controlled the destinies of the mine for the past two years, and the result is about the same in both cases. The course pursued by these men has had a damaging effect upon the entire mining interest of Ely District, and if they were in power much longer, everyone around Pioche would have to emigrate—not because the mines are worthless, not that they are worked out, or anything of that sort, but on account of a disinclination on the part of the Trustees to work a mine that has paid to its stockholders ten dollars in dividends for every dollar they were required to put up for working purposes. We expect better things from the new management. There is a rumor that Captain H. H. Day has been appointed Superintendent by the new Board of Trustees.

NOT UP TO THE STANDARD.—A few evenings since a large number of ladies and gentlemen and a still larger number of children of both sexes were coasting down Hoffman street, and were having a real jolly time. In the course of the evening one of the sleds with a number of children aboard capsized, and among those floundering around giving vent to his feelings as though a leg or an arm had been severed from his body, was a little boy. He was not dressed to kill; in fact, quite the reverse, and bore unmistakable evidence that his parents were not even well-to-do. All this was hid by the darkness, and a lady rushed forward and picked up the urchin, exclaiming as she did so, "Oh, you sweet little dear!" This did not hold good long, for as soon as she took in the situation, that youngster was dropped as something to be loathed. An audible smile went round among those gathered in the immediate vicinity of the capsized sled at this sudden revulsion of feeling. It was but too evident that the lady's idea of a "sweet little dear" was something different from the youngster she had so unceremoniously dropped, was to a certain extent governed by the material his clothes were made of and the amount of wear and tear they had sustained.

NEW TRUSTEES.—A telegram on Tuesday last came to the State Bank of Nevada notifying the Bank of the election of M. J. and M. L. McDonald, T. C. Banks, R. H. Minister and E. J. DeCrano as Trustees of the Raymond & Ely Mining Company, of Pioche, for the next proceeding year.

WES. WILLIAMS arrived from Leeds on Monday last. He does not come to stay, but will return immediately and stay with a location he and others have made over in the sandstone, which he thinks is as good as any location made in Harrisburg District.

FIRE PLOCS.—The fire plugs were examined on Tuesday last by the officers of the Pioche Fire Department, assisted by Capt. Lubbock, to see if any of them had become frozen during the cold snap. They all proved to be in good order in case of a fire.

IN TOWN.—Jack Gilmer arrived in town on Wednesday last from Harmony, Utah. As soon as the snow disappears sufficiently he will select a better road from Leeds to Pioche than the one now in use.

FROM WARD.—T. C. Poujade, Mrs. Mahoney and Bill Mahoney arrived on Wednesday morning last from Ward City by private conveyance. Mr. Poujade reports the roads in good order from Ward City to Pioche.

THE ELECTION.—The election for Chief Engineer and Second Assistant of the Pioche Fire Department takes place on Wednesday, January 31st, at the house of Pioche Hose Company.

LICENSES.—The Deputy Sheriff has been extremely busy during the past week collecting quarterly licenses.

An attachment suit was commenced on Tuesday last by the State Bank of Nevada against L. V. Loomis & Co. for the sum of $1,600.

NAPOLEON riding boots made to order at short notice by J. B. Stephens.

District Court.

The Court met on Saturday morning, January 20th, and transacted the following business:

Steinhart, Coleman Bros. and Neustadter vs. Joseph Rich; motion to strike out answers and for judgment in the above entitled cases partially argued and continued until Monday, January 22d.

L. Solomon et al. vs. M. Fuller et al.; motion for a new trial denied and judgment amended so as to run in favor of L. Solomon, surviving partner of Antonio Cardenas, instead of L. Solomon and D. L. Deal, Public Administrator and Administrator of the estate of Antonio Cardenas, deceased.

F. W. Clute vs. W. Kestle; called for trial, and by consent, continued until Saturday, January 27th.

MONDAY'S PROCEEDINGS.

Court met at 10 a. m.; following business transacted: Steinhart, Coleman Bros. and Neustadter vs. Jos. Rich; the motion to strike out answer granted; five days given the defendant to file answer upon payment of $15, plaintiff's costs in each suit.

Court then adjourned till Saturday, January 27th.

THE PROPOSED ADDITION.—From a letter received on Thursday last from J. C. Bowmer, member of the Legislature from Lincoln county, we learn that the proposed addition to the State of Nevada from Utah Territory (a resolution to that effect having been introduced by him in the Nevada Legislature), will take in all the ground south of the 39th parallel of latitude and west of the 34th parallel of longitude. This will include the counties of Washington, Kane, Iron, Piute and the greater portion of Millard county. This mining portion proposed to be annexed would be of great benefit to the Silver State of Nevada. He also states that the delegation from here are in favor of re-districting the State according to the bill, a synopsis of which has been published. The general feeling here seems to be against the re-districting bill.

MEETING OF THE BAR.—Yesterday afternoon at two o'clock a meeting of the members of the legal fraternity of Pioche was held at the office of Bishop & Sabin, for the purpose of taking suitable action in the matter of the death of Judge Pitzer. A resolution was passed to the effect that all members of the bar now residing in Pioche should attend the funeral to-day, and also that in Court to-day a Committee should be appointed to draft suitable resolutions in regard to the death of this time-honored member of the bar.

STOLEN.—A thermometer has been hanging outside of the door of the Record office for the last six months, but on Sunday night it disappeared. Probably some petty larceny thief, in looking at, unfortunately placed his hands upon it, and it being so cold that they froze to them, he was obliged to carry the thermometer off to save his fingers from being amputated.

TAKE NOTICE.—Chas. Stein gives notice in to-day's Record to numerous owners in the Black Prince mine, situated in Ely Mining District, that he has expended the sum of $310 on that claim in money and labor, and that if the said proportional owners do not pay their due share of said amount, the said mine will be forfeited to him according to law.

CLOSING OF THE MILL.—The Alps mill will be closed from date on account of repairs to be made to it until February 5, 1877. Parties wishing ore crushed should leave notice at the office of the Company on Cedar street, directed to Jno. H. Collier. All ore will be worked in the order in which it is received.

MAILS, &c.—Pioche failed to have a mail by way of Hamilton from Thursday, the 18th inst., until Wednesday, the 24th, at which time the stage arrived, bringing San Francisco dates up to the 16th inst. Mails were dispatched from here in extra wagons on Sunday, Tuesday and Wednesday, the regular stage departing on Thursday morning with the rest of the mail matter to that date.

COUNTY COMMISSIONERS.—The Board of County Commissioners met on Monday, the 22d inst., and transacted the following business: The bond of G. R. Alexander, Superintendent of the Public Schools of Lincoln county, was presented, approved and ordered filed. Dr. S. L. Lee was appointed Public Administrator for Lincoln county. The Board then adjourned.

EUGENE HAZARD, who has been confined to his house for some weeks, was operated on by the attending physician during the past week and over two gallons of water taken from his stomach. This was an immense relief to him and he has commenced to mend very rapidly.

DISTRICT COURT.—The District Court will meet to-day, and a committee will be appointed from members of the Bar to draft suitable resolutions in regard to the death of Judge J. S. Pitzer, after which it will adjourn.

ONE.—There is only one prisoner in the County Jail; Wm. Dennis, charged with sheep stealing.

STARTS TO-DAY.—By a telegram received by Frank Wheeler yesterday we learn that Capt. H. H. Day starts from San Francisco to-day for Pioche.

GOING UP.—Before the stock Board met yesterday in San Francisco $9.50 was offered for 10,000 shares of Raymond & Ely, or any portion of it.

POSTPONEMENT.—Notice is given in to-day's issue, of the postponement of sale of the personal property at Highland until Monday, January 29th.

A COMMITTEE.—The three fire companies of Pioche met last evening and selected a committee of five from each respective company. The said committee of fifteen will meet on Monday evening, the 29th inst., and nominate candidates for Chief Engineer and Second Assistant of the Pioche Fire Department to be voted for on Wednesday.

COASTING.—During the first part of the week in the evening coasting has been indulged in to a considerable extent on Ely, Main, Meadow Valley and Hoffman streets. The pleasant moonlight nights makes this sport very agreeable. Only one accident has occurred, which we note elsewhere.

PROPOSALS FOR WOOD.—Sealed proposals will be received at the office of the Alps S. M. Co. to February 5, 1877, to deliver 1,000 cords of cedar wood at the Condor mill, Condor Canyon. See notice published in to-day's Record.

A LARGER FORCE.—We are informed by Theodore A. Hale, acting superintendent of the Alps mine, that a larger force of men will be placed to work in that mine on the first day of February.

A ROW.—A fight occurred at the Court House on Tuesday last, in which a gentleman named an American citizen of African descent. No arrests.

DELINQUENT.—The delinquent list of the Raymond & Ely mine is published in to-day's Record.

CHANGE OF MEETING.—The Pioche Hose Company will meet on Monday, February 4, 1877.

BULLION.—Wells, Fargo & Co. shipped this week bullion valued at $5,435.

THE AUTHOR AND THE FIRST NIGHT.

Trials of the Playwright.—His Sensations on Witnessing the Murder of His Best Efforts.

The following from the Virginia Chronicle of the 15th concerns no less a personage than Pat Holland, who, it is hardly necessary to remind our readers, at one time flourished in Pioche:

It is very seldom, even in the best regulated theaters, that a new play runs off smoothly. The omission of a word sometimes turns a good bit into a flat remark, which does not even call forth a smile from the whole audience. The feelings of a dramatic author just at that time are peculiar. He prays from his inmost soul for a Galling gun to sweep the performers from the stage, after which he could commit suicide with resignation.

Last Saturday night was the occasion of the first production of Signs and Pass-words, a local farce, written by Pat Holland. Pat was behind the scenes with the manuscript in hand. The play opened well, and the actors seemed to have their lines pat, as they say. "Now," remarked the author, turning to a Chronicle reporter, "now comes something red-hot; just listen; you'll see the house just split themselves laughing." He lifted his hand at the place where the big joke was to come in, but the performer cleared the point like a blooded flyer going over a hurdle. He never touched it at all. Pat's face, which a moment before was grinning in expectation, suddenly gave expression of profound astonishment and then it grew pale. Presently he found his voice and remarked in an undertone to the reporter: "???"

The next joke was treated in the same way, and the next, the actors avoiding the points with astonishing skill and regularity, and then running back to put them in places where they did not belong. Sometimes Pat would jump two or three feet in the air, and then his hand would go back under his coat while it clutched nervously for a revolver or bowie knife.

When the curtain fell he sprang into the middle of the stage and remarked to one of the performers "???" to which the gentleman replied, "!!!!" et cetera.

All dramatic authors go through the same experience upon the night of the first production of a piece, and the wise playwright goes off and gets gloriously drunk upon such occasions. The piece is now running quite smoothly, and the jokes never fail to bring down the house.

An Original View.

The following bit of history has been unearthed by the New York Tribune. It says: "Senator Charles Pickney, of South Carolina, one of the framers of the Constitution, and the most eminent member of the Senate in the Sixth Congress, made a long speech against the Rosa Electoral bill in March, 1800, in which he answered precisely the same arguments which the Democrats are making now. Speaking of the intent of the framers of the Constitution, he made this emphatic and noteworthy statement: 'Knowing that it was the intention of the Constitution to make the President completely independent of the Federal Legislature, I well remember it was the object, as it is at present not only the spirit but the letter of that instrument, to give to Congress no interference in or control over the election of a President. It is made their duty to count over the votes in a convention of both Houses, for the President of the Senate to declare who has the majority of the votes of the election so transmitted. It never was intended, nor could it have been safe in the Constitution, to have given to Congress thus assembled in convention the right to object to any vote, or even to question whether they were constitutionally or properly given. The right of determining on the manner in which the Electors shall vote—the inquiry into the qualifications, and the guards necessary to prevent disqualified or improper men voting, and to insure the votes being legally given—rests and is exclusively vested in the State Legislature. If it is necessary to have guards against improper election of Electors, and to institute tribunals to inquire into their qualifications, with the State Legislatures, and with them alone, rests the power to institute them, and they must exercise it. To give to Congress, even when assembled in convention, the right to reject or admit the votes of States would have been as gross and dangerous an absurdity as the framers of the Constitution never have been guilty of.'"

A RETURNED NEVADAN.—A gentleman stepped into the News office this forenoon and showed a reporter a letter he had received from his mother, who lives in a small town in Western New York. The old lady states that there is a sensation in the village in the shape of a man who has just returned from Virginia City, where he made a fortune. The Nevadan arrays himself in fine black pants, which are thrust into the legs of high-heeled and brightly polished boots. He also wears a black velvet coat, a thunder and lightning vest, and a blue flannel shirt with an ornamented bosom. To top off this fascinating attire the returned Nevadan cocks a large silk hat on the side of his head. He assures the rural New Yorkers that every man of wealth and fashion in Virginia dresses in the same modest style. He shoos every body by swearing truthfully on all occasions and people can hardly understand him because of the incomprehensible slang with which he garnishes his speech. He gets drunk frequently. He terrifies the people by exhibiting the terrible wounds he received from a savage Piute Indian on the Divide and whom he left dead on the field. His pockets were filled with little bits of gold and silver which he picked up from time to time on the streets. He says that everybody in Nevada goes with a revolver strapped behind. The old lady earnestly beseeches her son not to fall into such dreadful habits, and hopes he will be careful of himself and keep out of the way of the wild Indians, and be sure and not be killed by earthquakes or savage coyotes, which the strange gentleman assures her are driven into town by hunger from the mountains during the winter months.

SHOOTING AFFRAY AT PAYSON.—At Payson on Thursday night, a young man named Race, after loading up with valley tan, quarrelled with a saloon-keeper of the town, for which he was taken to the lock-up. Wishing to make him comfortable for the night, the marshal who had arrested him, went out to get some blankets, and on returning, was confronted by the young man with a six-shooter and a demand for immediate release. The officer couldn't see it in that light, but the prisoner made for the door and ran with the officer after him. In his flight he turned and fired without effect. The marshal was soon joined by his son, who came up to the prisoner just as he stumbled over a rock-pile, when he was captured and handcuffed. Yesterday morning after coming to his senses, he offered the marshal $100 to let him off without trial, but the officer would not accept the bribe.—[Salt Lake Tribune, 20th.
